Blindfold games are almost always played with, at a bare minimum, a 9-level adjustment to the rules of chess, making them much more difficult to learn. Blindfold chess is also far more likely to create a dispute if a player feels that they were cheated in the game, or if they were injured or unhealthily fatigued during a game. Chess was once considered to be the most intellectually challenging of all sports. How are blindfold chess games played? The first major rule change in blindfold chess is that the game is played on an 8 x 8 chessboard, the same board that is used for playing traditional chess. On this 8 x 8 board, the same pieces are used as are used on the standard chess
